The King Edward Hotel

The King Edward Hotel is named for the King,
But the name, in itself, doesn't mean everything;
It is service that counts and if you stop there—
Of royal good service you'll get a large share.

The King Edward Hotel is a brick structure, pretty,
And is right in the heart of Victoria City,
It is furnished in style that is modern and late—
Conducted in manner that's right up-to-date.

There are rooms rented singly and also en suite,
Elegantly furnished, airy and neat,
Private baths, if you like, hot and cold running water,
Fit for yourself, for wife, son or daughter.

The King Edward Hotel is by electricity lighted,
In daylight and night-time you'll there be delighted;
The parlors and halls are cheery and wide,
While the way it is furnished will fill you with pride.

The meals are prepared by chefs who know how,
"You ought to be eating a meal there right now!"
There's nothing neglected that will give you pleasure—
A sojourn means comfort and that in full measure.

The bar is the place where your whistle you wet,
Best wines and liquors on earth there you get,
You can order your wine in the dining room too,
The King Edward Hotel is good through and through.

There's a bus that will meet you—and nothing's the charge
That's the 'bus fare and you can't say it's large,
The King Edward rates are fair all the while,
If you stop there with pleasure you'll constantly smile.

So stop at the King Edward, you'll find it will pay,
They'll welcome and care for you there any day,
Just step off the boat and into the 'bus,
Your troubles are ended without any fuss.

PREFACE

625887
31.56

In presenting the Vancouver Island Gazetteer and Directory for 1909, we take the opportunity to thank our patrons for their generous support.

The Directory consists of

- (1) Miscellaneous Information.
- (2) Directory of the various towns and villages, etc.
- (3) Victoria City Directory.
- (4) Classified Business Directory.

With regard to the compilation it will be found that the names of Business Firms consisting of two surnames with the conjunction "and" between them, have, in accordance with the standard system used in most directories, been placed at the end of whatever the first name is, e.g. "Thompson & Johnson" will follow after the "Thompsons." In the case of individuals who are members of a partnership firm, the name of such firm is put in brackets immediately after the individual's name. Names commencing with "Mc" will be found at the beginning of the letter 'M,' while "Mac" is in its direct alphabetical order.

The City of Victoria Directory contains a total of 13,653 names, of these 12,202 are names of individuals, and 1,451 names of business firms, societies, clubs, churches, etc. In using the figures of 12,202 individual names as a basis for calculating the population there is no doubt that a multiple of three, which is used by Directory Compilers in arriving at the population of most cities, is rather under than over the proper multiple to use in the case of Victoria which is so largely a residential and educational centre, for it must be remembered that the Directory does not contain the names of married women nor children and in addition there is the large number of transients who are moving all the time and whose names never appear in any directory. Multiplying by three gives a total of 36,606, and when it is taken into consideration that there are between 2,000 and 3,000 Indians and Orientals, the population of Victoria, including Oak Bay and Esquimalt, must be

Victoria	40,000
Nanaimo is about	7,000
Ladysmith	3,000
Cumberland	2,000
Duncan and District	1,200

The other places given in the Directory contain altogether 3,945 individual names; these consist mostly of names of farmers and represent a larger population than do the figures in a city directory, as in the case of a farmer only the name of the head of the household appears in the Directory. Using a multiple of four..... 15,780

Making a total population for Vancouver Island, including Salt Spring and Texada Islands, of..... 68,980

VANCOUVER ISLAND

Vancouver Island is separated from the mainland of British Columbia by Queen Charlotte Sound and the Straits of Georgia, and from the State of Washington, U.S.A., by the Haro, and Juan de Fuca Straits. Its extreme length, from Gonzales Point to Cape Scott is 285 miles and its greatest breadth 80 miles. Its total area is 16,400 square miles, about 10,000,000 acres. A chain of mountains runs practically the whole length of the Island, being intersected by fertile valleys and numerous rivers and lakes. The coast line is very extensive and indented with numerous deep bays and many excellent harbours.

The Island was first visited by white man in 1592, when Juan de Fuca sailed into the Straits which now bear his name. From then until 1778 it was visited by several Spanish navigators—in that year Captain Cook cast anchor in Nootka Sound, and the observations he then made were duly reported in England, with the result that in 1788, Captain Meares established a permanent fur trading settlement on Nootka Sound. This settlement was destroyed by the Spaniards in the following year. During 1792 and the subsequent years Captain George Vancouver made a survey of the coast, and established the existence of Vancouver Island, which hitherto was thought to be joined to the mainland. From that date until 1848, fur trading was carried on to a small extent, but in that year, James Douglas established the headquarters of the Hudson Bay Company for the Pacific Slope at Camosun, now Victoria City.

In 1849 the Island was created a Crown Colony, which was granted representative government in 1856. In 1858 the Island and the Mainland west of the Rockies were united and became the Crown Colony of British Columbia, which later on became a province of the Canadian Confederation in 1871.

Coal mining and lumbering are the chief industries, but fishing, quartz mining, copper smelting, shipbuilding and whaling have made rapid strides within the last few years and are now assuming large proportions. There are many prosperous agricultural communities along the line of the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway, and in the Comox districts.

A brief description of each place on Vancouver Island and the Islands adjacent will be found in the Directory.

CAMPBELL RIVER

A settlement about $\frac{1}{2}$ a mile south of the mouth of the Campbell River, at the extreme south-east of the Sayward District and 33 miles north of Courteney. The locality is famed for its salmon fishing and is a big game resort. The extension of the E. & N. Ry. is expected to reach here within the next year or two, and the telephone and telegraph will probably be in operation by the beginning of 1909. Coal has been discovered in the neighborhood, and its development is now starting. Regular steamer connections with Vancouver. There is a first-class hotel. The logging camps in the neighborhood employ about 150 men.

CUMBERLAND

Formerly called Union. A coal mining town (incorporated 1898); finely situated amidst the mountains, about 500 feet above the waters of the Georgian Straits, and 60 miles north of Nanaimo. It is connected with Union Bay by railway, distant 13 miles. Its principal industry is coal mining. The Wellington Colliery Company employ about 1,000 men. The town is the market place for the Comox farming settlement. It has money order, postoffice and savings bank, telegraph office, four churches, weekly newspaper and a sawmill. It is reached by steamer three times a week from Nanaimo. The city has a fire department of one superintendent and nine call men, with two hand machines and 600 feet of hose. There is an up-to-date waterworks system, and the quality of the water is of the best in the province. There is also an electric light plant, and the hospital for the Comox District is situated here.

Population, about 2,000, in addition to which there are about 700 Orientals.

Mayor and Official Administrator of the Comox Electoral District, Wesley Willard.

LADYSMITH

One of the three important mining towns of Vancouver Island, is situated on Oyster Harbor, 16 miles south of Nanaimo and 60 north of Victoria. The city was incorporated in 1904, and is in the provincial Electoral District of Newcastle and Dominion Electoral District of Nanaimo. The coal mines of the Wellington Colliery Co., situated in the vicinity (at Extension), give employment to the majority of the inhabitants, and it is from this city that all the coal is shipped. The wharves are fitted with the latest devices for coaling steamers. The E. & N. Railway runs along the waterfront, and the freight cars are ferried from here to Vancouver. The Ladysmith Lumber Co. and the Tye Copper Coy.'s Smelter are two large industrial concerns which give employment to many of the inhabitants.

Population 3,000 (exclusive of Orientals).

MOUNTAIN DISTRICT

A land district lying west of Nanaimo.

NANAIMO

The second city of Vancouver Island is situated on the east coast of the Island 73 miles north of Victoria and 33 miles west of Vancouver city across the Straits of Georgia.

The city was founded in 1853 and incorporated in 1874 when its population was 1500. It is beautifully situated on one of the finest harbors on the Pacific coast—a harbor which allows safe ingress and egress to the largest of ships at all stages of the tides and, at the same times affords perfect protection from storms.

The main source from which the city derives its industry is the coal mines, now operated by the Western Fuel Co. These mines are capable of producing over 1,000 tons of coal a day and give employment to 1,200 men.

Fishing in all its branches, but principally herring fishing and curing, is another industry which has grown to large proportion. In addition there is also great activity in the following lines, sawmills, shingle mills, sash and door factories and brewing, and iron foundry.

The city owns and operates an up-to-date system of waterworks which has been largely extended and improved during the last year. The fire department has 5 hose stations and is equipped with 2 engines, 1 hose wagon, 1 truck and ladder, with a hand hosewagon in each station. The fire hall on Cavan street is in charge of Chief Parkin and there are 25 call men.

There is both gas and electric lighting in the city.

Two newspapers are published here, the Free Press and The Herald (daily and semi-weekly). The Royal Bank and the Canadian Bank of Commerce have established branches.

These necessary adjuncts to a commercial city, a Courthouse, Jail, Customs House, Post Office, telegraph and telephone are to be found here.

There are five schools in the city and 5 in the suburbs, fully equipped with everything which

NELSON DISTRICT

A land district lying south of the Comox district and bounded on the east by Baynes Sound.

NETTLE ISLAND

In Barkley Sound, midway between Copper Island and the west coast of Barkley Sound.

NEW ALBERNI

(See also Alberni and Beaver Creek.)

Has a regular steamship service for the coast and will be the terminus of the E. & N. Rly., at the present time the railroad is being extended from Nanaimo. The location, being at the head of Alberni Canal (Barkley Sound), is such that New Alberni must in the future be an important town. The water is navigable for the largest vessel right up to the new townsite. After a period of three days, owing to the effect of the fresh water in the Canal, sea going vessels lose all barnacles and other undesirable matter collected on their voyage. Timber, farming and fruit growing are the principal industries. Mails thrice weekly; has a money order post office, two sawmills, two hotels and seven stores erected or in course of erection, also telegraph connection.

CITY OF VICTORIA

(INCLUDING OAK BAY AND ESQUIMALT.)

VICTORIA, the capital of British Columbia, is situated on the southern part of Vancouver Island, 84 miles south of Vancouver City and 80 miles north of Seattle, U. S. A. Port Townsend, U. S. A., is 35 miles south, and Prince Rupert lies about 550 miles to the north. It was incorporated as a city on 4th August, 1862.

The harbor around which the city is built is one of the most sheltered on the Pacific Coast, its accessibility being such that Victoria is bound to develop into one of the great shipping ports of the Pacific Ocean.

The place has many claims by which its future advancement is assured as a tourist and residential resort, and as a commercial centre.

The conditions which combine to make this city such an attraction for the tourist are now becoming well known throughout the continent. The climate, the beauty of scenery, the splendid roads for driving and automobiling, the facilities for boating and sea-trips, and the first-class accommodation for visitors—all these, and others, unite to give Victoria pre-eminence as a tourist and residential city.

On the other hand its commercial and industrial development keeps pace with its rapid expansion in other directions. The Board of Trade Report for the year to 30th June 1908, shows that, in spite of the business depression throughout the continent for several months, Victoria made steady progress as evidenced by the following figures:

Customs Returns 1906-7.....	$4,252,762
Customs Returns 1907-8.....	$4,971,045

Exports—

Domestic	$ 995,192
Foreign	$ 119,537

Shipping: 861 loaded vessels arrived (tonnage 874,835), and there departed 543 (tonnage 476,934). The number of vessels in ballast to enter the port was 320 (tonnage 502,973), and 618 vessels in ballast left outward bound with a tonnage of 841,245.

The Gross Postal Revenue was $62,500.14, as against $61,466.75 the previous year. The Inland Revenue Collections were $229,656.44, as against $201,585.94.

The figures of the Bank Clearances and the City Building Statistics given on pages 238 and 239 show further the great advances made during the last year.

The City Council has recently expended large sums on improving the roads, sidewalks, and water and drainage systems, greatly enhancing the amenities and conveniences of the city.

The Lumber Mills occupy a prominent place in Victoria's industries, there being six large mills in the city. Shipbuilding is another line in which several firms carry on an extensive business. Here, too, is the home port of the Whaling and Sealing fleets; and the trade connected with the Salmon Canneries of British Columbia is largely centred in the city, as the largest traps for catching this splendid fish are near at hand.

The Sisters of Saint Ann have lately added a $150,000 addition to their already commodious building for the care of the sick and afflicted.

The mansion of the present Lieutenant-Governor costing several hundred thousand dollars, which is at present being erected at Belmont, and which incorporates in its design many of the architectural features of the great country seats of the Old Land, is still another evidence of the great solidity of Victoria's future growth.

The school system is thoroughly up-to-date; there are twelve public schools situated throughout the city, and in addition there are several in the various suburbs. Victoria has also a large number of schools conducted by private enterprise which provide educational courses preparatory to entrance to the Universities.

The Provincial Royal Hospital is situated on the eastern outskirts of the city and is fitted with all the requirements of a modern hospital.

Beacon Hill, a magnificent park about 250 acres in extent lies to the south of the city and commands a grand view of the Juan de Fuca Straits, the Olympian Mountains, Mount Baker and the other mountains on the mainland. It contains zoological gardens, recreation grounds, and numerous other attractions.

The Gorge, and the surrounding park, is another picturesque resort and recreation ground of which any city might be proud.

The great interest that the Canadian Pacific Railway has lately taken in Victoria and Vancouver Island generally is one of the many advantages Victoria has to aid her in building up a commercial port.

CITY OF VICTORIA

STREET DIRECTORY

(Including Esquimalt and Oak Bay)

SYSTEM OF NUMBERING.—The City of Victoria recently adopted the decimal system of numbering, by which system an even hundred numbers are allotted to each block and all short streets take their numbers from the through streets.

A number is allotted to every 20 feet and the odd numbers are on the south and east sides of streets.

All streets running northwards start with No. 1, at Dallas Road and intersect Fort Street at No. 1000.

All streets running eastwards start with No. 1 at the Outer Wharf; the number at the intersection with Government Street being 600.

The word "Street" is omitted from all names.

The KING EDWARD HOTEL is named for the King.
But the name in itself doesn't mean everything;
It is service that counts and if you stop there—
Of royal good service you'll get a large share.
